Please describe your current position and role in your organisation.

As vice-president of ACEFIR, a Catalan organisation devoted to adult education, my role is to maintain connections between my country and Europe and occasionally worldwide. I also maintain contact with policy makers and those who work in the field of adult education at national and regional level, whether they are teachers, directors, learners or advocates. In the end, I try to serve as a bridge between people on the field of adult education, with the aim of improving and providing more flexible learning opportunities so that everyone can benefit from them.

How would you like to contribute to the work of EAEA, based on the experience in your organisation? What capacities do you have to support the work of EAEA?

I have been myself a teacher and a learner in an adult education centre. And through Erasmus+ projects I have gained a more reflexive experience around Adult Education and what it means to develop basic skills these days. If I am elected as an EAEA board member I will provide my views based on both practical and more reflexive experiences.

Are there specific activities or areas of work at EAEA you would like to contribute to? Which activities or areas of work are you already actively contributing to?

Some of the most relevant topics I have worked on is Basic Education and I would love to keep on reflecting on this topic at European level. A part from Basic Education, I have also got experience teaching on the Vocational training sector and Spanish Secondary Schools, where the drop-off rates are high. This wide experience brings me a global perspective on learning eco-systems and learners needs.

What motivates you to candidate for the Executive Board of EAEA?

Lifelong learning saved my life in a moment when I was lost. I know from my own experience and from those learners who I have met through my professional experience that there is not just one way to develop learning skills in life. Any of us need to keep on adapting to this changing world and this is why we need more learning equitable opportunities. I would like to be part of the EAEA executive board to keep on working and pushing for the right to learn.

What other information would you like to share with EAEA members?

In ACEFIR we are proud members of the EAEA and I personally have a deep respect for the organisation and their members. If I am elected as a board member I will work to have a more equitable and flexible European adult education.

Thank you for reading me!
